Third Year of Supporting Small Arms and Light Weapons Control Roadmap: UN Multi-Partner Trust Fund's Annual Report

The third annual report of the United Nations Multi-Partner Trust Fund of the Roadmap for a sustainable solution to the illicit possession, misuse and trafficking of small arms and light weapons (SALW) and their ammunition in the Western Balkans by 2024 is now available for online reading. The report marks the third year in the Fund's existence and represents the consolidation of its support to the Roadmap's implementation over 2021.

During the previous year, six new projects were initiated thus the total number of projects funded by the Fund was increased to ten, with an overall budget of $12 million. By funding the new projects, the Fund has extended its support to the whole Western Balkans. New areas of intervention were also introduced, in line with the needs and priorities of each jurisdiction.

These include forensics and ballistics examinations, raising awareness about the dangers of firearms misuse, physical security and stockpile management, and information exchange with INTERPOL. Finally, the Trust Fund provided support for replicating and scaling up previous initiatives, demonstrating the catalytic investment of the Fund.

The Western Balkans Small Arms and Light Weapons (SALW) Control Roadmap Multi-Partner Trust Fund supports a donor-coordinated approach to the implementation of the Roadmap for a sustainable solution to the illegal possession, misuse and trafficking of SALW and their ammunition in the Western Balkans. This pooled fund strengthens coordination, planning and communication among all partners, fosters collaboration, and reduces risks to governments and financial contributors.

The Fund's contributors include those of Germany, the United Kingdom, Sweden, France, the Netherlands, and Norway. Administrated by the United Nations Multi-Partner Trust Fund Office and implemented by the United Nations Development Programme and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the Fund is supported by SEESAC which also serves as its secretariat.

Cookies on our web page

What is Cookie?

A cookie is a small piece of data sent from a website and stored in a user's web browser while a user is browsing a website. When the user browses the same website in the future, the data stored in the cookie can be retrieved by the website to notify the website of the user's previous activity.

How do we use cookies?

A visit to a this page could generate the following types of cookie.

Strictly necessary cookies

These cookies are essential in order to enable you to move around the website and use its features, such as accessing secure areas of the website. Without these cookies services you have asked for, like shopping baskets or e-billing, cannot be provided.

2. Performance cookies

These cookies collect information about how visitors use a website, for instance which pages visitors go to most often, and if they get error messages from web pages. These cookies don't collect information that identifies a visitor. All information these cookies collect is aggregated and therefore anonymous. It is only used to improve how a website works.

3. Functionality cookies

These cookies allow the website to remember choices you make (such as your user name, language or the region you are in) and provide enhanced, more personal features. For instance, a website may be able to provide you with local weather reports or traffic news by storing in a cookie the region in which you are currently located. These cookies can also be used to remember changes you have made to text size, fonts and other parts of web pages that you can customise. They may also be used to provide services you have asked for such as watching a video or commenting on a blog. The information these cookies collect may be anonymised and they cannot track your browsing activity on other websites.

4. Targeting and advertising cookies

These cookies are used to deliver adverts more relevant to you and your interests. They are also used to limit the number of times you see an advertisement as well as help measure the effectiveness of the advertising campaign. They are usually placed by advertising networks with the website operator's permission. They remember that you have visited a website and this information is shared with other organisations such as advertisers. Quite often targeting or advertising cookies will be linked to site functionality provided by the other organisation.
